

Christina Hood

Luxury Real Estate Advisor, AI Speaker & Strategist

Christina Hood is a Palo Alto-based luxury real estate advisor known for blending high-touch client service with modern strategy. She serves Silicon Valley clients with a focus on relationship-driven results and thoughtful positioning in competitive markets.

An early adopter of AI in real estate, Christina uses it as a daily operating system to streamline workflows, enhance client communication, and support high-stakes decision-making—from pricing strategies to marketing execution.

She is a community leader and President of the Palo Alto Chamber of Commerce Board, and is passionate about helping agents integrate AI in a way that elevates—not replaces—the human experience in real estate.
